Program Educational Objectives (PEOs)

Faculty of Education

Physical Education and Sports Sciences Program

1. Graduates will serve as qualified professionals in physical education, coaching, and sports management, promoting holistic development and well-being.
2. Graduates will foster teamwork, leadership, ethical sportsmanship, and community engagement through sports activities.
3. Graduates will promote healthy lifestyles, mental resilience, and environmental sustainability in educational and community contexts.
4. Graduates will pursue continuous professional development and contribute to the advancement of sports and physical education.

Kurdish Language Program

1. Graduates will work as competent Kurdish language educators using modern pedagogical approaches.
2. Graduates will demonstrate critical thinking, professional ethics, and leadership in educational settings.
3. Graduates will contribute to curriculum development, research, and language evaluation in Kurdish studies.
4. Graduates will adapt to diverse professional roles and pursue lifelong learning in language and education fields.

Arabic Language Program

1. Graduates will teach Arabic effectively using contemporary teaching and assessment methods.
2. Graduates will work professionally in translation, media, tourism, and linguistic services.
3. Graduates will contribute to linguistic research, curriculum development, and language problem-solving.
4. Graduates will engage in continuous professional growth and assume responsible roles in educational and cultural institutions.

English Language Program

1. Graduates will serve as effective English language teachers applying modern pedagogical practices.
2. Graduates will work as translators or language specialists in educational and professional sectors.
3. Graduates will demonstrate ethical professionalism, leadership, and collaboration in diverse environments.
4. Graduates will pursue continuous professional development and contribute to innovation in English language education.

Social Sciences Program

1. Graduates will work as qualified educators in history, geography, and social sciences.
2. Graduates will apply critical thinking, analytical skills, and research methods to educational and societal issues.
3. Graduates will integrate technology, ethical communication, and sustainability principles in professional practice.
4. Graduates will pursue lifelong learning and contribute to community development and policy awareness.

Kindergarten Program

1. Graduates will work as professional early childhood educators applying child-centered and inclusive approaches.
2. Graduates will design, implement, and evaluate developmentally appropriate curricula and activities.
3. Graduates will support children's cognitive, emotional, and physical development, including special needs education.
4. Graduates will engage in research, leadership, and continuous professional development in early childhood education.

Mathematics- Basic Education Program

1. Graduates will work as professional mathematics educators applying strong content knowledge and modern pedagogy.
2. Graduates will integrate technology, research, and innovative strategies to improve mathematics learning.
3. Graduates will demonstrate ethical responsibility, leadership, and inclusive teaching practices.
4. Graduates will pursue advanced studies and continuous professional development in mathematics education.

Mathematics- Education Program

1. Graduates will teach mathematics effectively at the basic education level using sound pedagogical approaches.
2. Graduates will apply critical thinking, problem-solving, and technological skills in educational practice.
3. Graduates will promote ethical values, sustainability, and inclusive education.
4. Graduates will engage in lifelong learning and contribute positively to school and community development.

General Sciences Program

1. Graduates will work as qualified science teachers in chemistry, physics, and biology at the basic level.
2. Graduates will apply scientific reasoning, laboratory skills, and modern teaching strategies in professional practice.
3. Graduates will promote scientific literacy, ethical responsibility, and community awareness.
4. Graduates will pursue continuous professional development and contribute to the advancement of science education.